Dear Richard,

This asks nothing of you. It is just that every once in a while I forget there is a Richard I do not know or understand and I think in terms of the past, think what might have interested that Richard. As when I phoned about the possibilities in the King/Ray case. I did not have C & G in mind.

Reading and correcting the retyped ms. of a book manuscript that has the tentative title Faking Kennedy, with Hersh-It Journalism (it began with the title The Dark Side of Sy Hersh), when I came to this part of the epilogue it occured to me that the you of the past might have had an interest in it.

So, when making a copy of the pages with corrections to be made I made one of the pages thatin the past might have been of interest to you.

If you have forgotten, long ago I told you that I'd spend the time that remains to me making a record for our history, without any expectation of publication. Quite a few manuscripts by now, with duplicates distributed to help serve as that record for the future.

Sincerely,

Harold
